

THE DISCOVERY OF A CHILD'S TRUE POTENTIAL

At International Montessori Schools, we pride ourselves on fostering productive, harmonious communities where children are free to learn and discover at their own pace. Our faithful implementation of the Montessori philosophy and carefully prepared classroom environments ensure that our students grow holistically, developing valuable skills on various social and intellectual levels. Our teachers are trained to provide the guidance each child needs in different developmental stages so that, together with their concentration, motivation, and independence, their love of learning flourishes.

In addition to gaining core academic skills, our students develop an awareness of the interconnectedness of all life and of humanity's responsibilities in the world. Rich cultural and science materials and a range of outdoor activities are used to cultivate a love of nature, the world, and all those who inhabit it. At each campus, teachers and families from diverse backgrounds come together and bring to life Montessori's vision of a harmonious world for our children.

A LETTER FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear Friends of CAIR-Philadelphia:

As-salamu Alaikum!

This is the third Annual Report I have helped to assemble for CAIR-Philadelphia since I was hired as the organization's Executive Director in October 2013. Since that time, our donations have increased in each of the last three years, enabling us to greatly expand our services to better protect the civil rights of the Greater Delaware Valley Muslim community, as well as educating the general public about Islam.

Working for CAIR has been, and continues to be, a tremendously fulfilling experience. It is a great honor for me to be CAIR's first Jewish director of one of its thirty chapters, and I am happy to announce that 2015 has been our most productive year to date.

Although the past year has seen an unprecedented display of anti-Muslim bigotry and extremist violence, the good news is that many of the Muslim community's Christian, Jewish, and interfaith allies have been outspoken in denouncing the virulent Islamophobia on the airwayes and online.

There is still plenty of work left to do. Though the wars in Muslim lands still rage, and desperate refugees still drown under Mediterranean waves, I am yet an optimist, believing that the arc of the universe bends toward justice. Each and every time CAIR, with your support and advice, helps to protect and secure the civil rights of a Muslim person, we help bend that arc towards justice.

Salaam,

JACOB BENDER
Executive Director

The First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

CAIR-Philadelphia Attorney Ryan Houldin meeting with prospective client.

PROTECTING CIVIL LIBERTIES

Attorney Ryan Houldin joined CAIR-Philadelphia in June 2015. For the past nine months, he has secured numerous victories in upholding the civil rights of Muslims in the Philadelphia area. According to Ryan, "It has been a gift to help empower a community that has been unjustly targeted and ostracized from mainstream America." Following is a description of some of the cases Ryan has worked on since joining CAIR-Philadelphia.

Lawsuit Over Masjid Construction

Last year, CAIR-Philadelphia teamed up with the law firm Storzer & Greene and sued Bensalem Township, challenging their denial of permission to construct a masjid. Last month, the Judge denied Bensalem's request to dismiss the case and ruled that we plausibly alleged that Bensalem has burdened the masjid's religious exercise. We will provide updates about this case as it progresses.

Religious Rights for Prisoners

CAIR-Philadelphia has joined with co-counsel at Post & Schell to represent a Muslim inmate at State Correctional Institution Mahanoy (SCI-Mahanoy). SCI-Mahanoy terminated our client from his job because he performed salat during work hours. The prison upheld its decision based on their policy of only allowing non-ritual prayer during working hours for kitchen workers. Last month we went to trial over this matter and we are awaiting the final determination from the Judge.

Workplace Accommodation

The Philadelphia Parking Authority (PPA) refused to accommodate a Muslim employee who wanted to wear an ankle-length skirt as part of her uniform. Ryan wrote a letter to the PPA informing them that their policy violated state and federal anti-discrimination laws, and threatened suit if changes were not made. We are happy to report that the PPA had an ankle-length skirt custom-made for her that she is now permitted to wear.

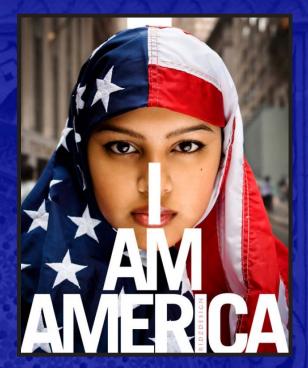

- CAIR-Philadelphia filed a complaint with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), with the intention of filing a federal lawsuit, on behalf of a Muslim brother who was terminated because the employer failed to provide a religious accommodation.
- ♠ A Muslim teenager had been afraid to wear her hijab for the first few months while working at Chuck E. Cheese's for fear of discrimination. After summoning the courage to cover, she was immediately told by her boss that she was not permitted to wear her hijab at work. Fortunately, the teenager's parents stood up against such blatant discrimination and questioned her boss' decision. In addition, Ryan contacted Chuck E. Cheese's to inform them that such a demand violated the teenager's civil rights. As a result, Chuck E. Cheese's permitted the teenager to wear her hijab at work.
- ♦ When a Muslim employee asked her boss for time off to make hajj, the employer required her to obtain a letter from a Muslim leader in the community verifying that hajj is a religious requirement. Ryan contacted the employer and informed them that such a request is illegal. We are happy to report that the employee was granted time off and made hajj.

Immigration

A Syrian national applied for a green card with the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) over a year and a half ago. To date, he has not gotten a response. Ryan filed a federal Writ of Mandamus, challenging this unreasonable delay, and asked the Judge to order that the government render a decision. Our client has since been interviewed by USCIS and we are expecting a decision in his case any day now.

Interactions with the FBI

The FBI repeatedly contacted an American Muslim woman living and working in Philadelphia, in an attempt to question her. Fortunately, she contacted CAIR-Philadelphia to better understand her constitutional rights and Mr. Houldin advised her of her rights. Additionally, he set up an appointment with the FBI at the client's request and accompanied her to the meeting. As a result, the FBI has ceased their efforts to contact her.

CAIR works to protect the constitutional right of American Muslim women to wear the hijab in the workplace, and for resettlement of desperate Syrian refugees fleeing their war-torn country.

Congratulations CAIR on a decade of achievements!

EMPOWERING AMERICAN MUSLIMS

The SEPTA Bus Ads

Last year, as part of its national anti-Muslim campaign, the Islamophobic group "Stop the Islamization of America" (SOIA) purchased advertising space on SEPTA buses to display ads calling opponents of Israeli policy "savages" and claiming that the Qur'an is anti-Semitic.

Our press release on the issue stated: "These ads are despicable and false, but fall under First Amendment protection. The people behind these ads are part of a well-funded nation-wide Islamophobic campaign pushing a clearly hate-inspired message on the citizens of our city."

When a U.S. District Court ruled that SEPTA could not refuse to place the ads, CAIR immediately began working with an interfaith coalition to push back against these ads. The coalition's efforts included a press conference with Mayor Nutter and a public educational campaign about Islam, including the leafletting of SEPTA riders.

"The efforts of the Philadelphia Chapter of CAIR to educate and engage the public were instrumental in negating the impact of the ads. CAIR's message of inclusion and tolerance was and is a powerful antidote to those whose only goal is to sow fear and hatred."

> SEPTA General Manager Francis Kelly

Philadelphia Group Lobbies State Lawmakers About Anti-Muslim Bias

HARRISBURG (Oct. 20, 2015) – Highlighting what they say is a national increase of anti-Muslim bias, triggered in part by the rhetoric of some Republican presidential candidates, about 50 amateur lobbyists affiliated with the Philadelphia chapter of the Council on American Islamic Relations converged at the state capitol to pitch lawmakers on a range of social issues.

Armed with a talking-points memo and posters emblazoned "I am a proud American Muslim," and "Islamophobia = Racism," the members of the advocacy group fanned out for office visits with legislators and their staffs.

Some of the men wore beards and knitted skull caps. Some of the women wore hijabs. They spoke about anti-Arab bigotry, the Syrian refugee crisis, the movement to have two major Muslim fast days recognized as school holidays in Philadelphia, three state Senate bills that would affect the price of in-state college tuition, eligibility for driver's licenses, and employment opportunities for authorized and undocumented immigrants.

Three- and four-person teams visited the offices of Philadelphia-area law-makers Louise Bishop, Lawrence Farnese Jr., Dominic Pileggi, Vincent Hughes, and others.

The group that visited Rep. Kevin Schreiber, (D., York) included Abdallah Abououf, a pharmacy technician, of Hummelstown; his wife, Mona Elkony; and their infant son, Yusuf. "Three months old and already a lobbyist?" Schreiber teased, drawing a laugh.

Schreiber turned serious when he noted that candid discussions with American Muslims exercising their democratic rights need to be part of any dialog about a better society.

Jacob Bender, the first Jewish director of a CAIR affiliate, said the event, which was billed as "Muslim Capitol Day," was designed to bring together a diverse coalition that included a rabbi, an Imam, an ordained minister, civil rights organization leaders, and lawmakers to proclaim, "We will no longer allow the Muslim community and Islam to be stereotyped, marginalized and vilified."

EMPOWERING AMERICAN MUSLIMS

Muslim Capitol Day in Harrisburg

One of the year's highlights was Muslim Capitol Day. On Oct. 20th, over 100 community members and supporters from around Pennsylvania travelled to Harrisburg. Meeting with our elected representatives, we conveyed to them the Muslim community's concerns on a number of issues, including the spread of Islamophobia into mainstream politics, supporting the resettlement of Syrian refugees in Pennsylvania, raising the minimum wage, and the climate crisis.

A press conference including a diverse list of Muslim, Christian, and Jewish speakers, concluded the day. The speakers included Jacob Bender; Iftekhar Hussain; State Rep. Jason Dawkins; Tiffany Chang from the Governor's Office; Rabiya Khan, local Muslim activist; Ann Van Dyke, Community Responders Network; Rev. Sandra Strauss, Harrisburg Council of Churches; and Rabbi Linda Holtzman, Tikkun Olam Havurah.

The event was proof that in spite of the increase in Islamophobia, the American Muslim community has many friends among Jewish, Christian, and interfaith leaders and their organizations.

The Delaware Valley Muslim Leadership Forum

On several occasions during 2015, CAIR-Philadelphia organized meetings of the Greater Delaware Valley Muslim leadership forums. In attendance were imams, board members and executive committee members of mosques and Muslim organizations, CAIR staff, as well as Muslim business owners in the Greater Delaware Valley.

The purpose of the meetings was to establish better understanding and coordination between all segments of the Delaware Valley Muslim community, and particularly between the urban African-American community and the suburban immigrant community.

Several topics were presented and discussed at the Forum meetings, and the Forum decided to act upon the following projects:

- The establishment of the Philadelphia Muslim Health & Social Services Alliance and the creation of a center to service the health needs of low-income individuals and the under-insured;
- 2. Organizing a symposium in 2016 on strategies to advance the status of women in the American mosque;
- 3. Organizing a public lecture by Trevor Aaronson, award-winning Aljazeera America journalist, on the FBI's use of entrapment in the American Muslim community.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In early 2016, as this 2015 Annual Report was being worked on, the Philadelphia Eid Coalition achieved a significant victory when the Philadelphia City Council unanimously supported a resolution submitted by Councilman Curtis Jones in the support of making the Two Eids official city holidays. The resolution of January 21st was a great victory; however, it is not a law. The resolution still has to be approved by the city and teacher unions, and a host of other elected officials, including the Mayor. The Philadelphia Eid Coalition, of which CAIR is a member, plans to continue to educate and encourage government officials to make the Two Eids legal holidays.

EMPOWERING AMERICAN MUSLIMS

The Philadelphia Eid Coalition

Another project that grew out of the Greater Delaware Valley Muslim Leadership Forum was the Philadelphia Eid Coalition.

"In unity, there is strength" was a slogan of the American labor movement when it was struggling in the early 20th Century for the right to unionize, the abolition of child labor, and the 8-hour work day.

Here in Philadelphia, the year 2015 witnessed a birth of Muslim unity with a community commitment to work together for the recognition of the Two Eids — Eid al-Fitr and Eid al-Adha — as official City and School Board Holidays.

Philadelphia has the highest percentage of Muslim residents of any major city in the U.S., numbering by some accounts over 200,000, with an estimated 15% of city public school students being Muslim.

The deeper significance of this campaign is that official recognition of the Two Eids would be a major victory along the road of full acceptance of Islam as one of the major religions of America. Americans would no longer speak of the United States as rooted in "Judeo-Christian" values, but as a multi-faith democracy built upon the shared Abrahamic values of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam.

BUILDING INTERFAITH COALITIONS

Many of CAIR Philadelphia's most successful projects of 2015 — the SEPTA bus ad coalition, Muslim Capitol Day in Harrisburg, the Philadelphia Eid Coalition, and the ongoing campaign against Islamophobia — also included interfaith elements.

Working with social justice activists from other religious communities — Christian, Jewish, Sikh, Buddhist, and Hindu — remains at the heart of CAIR's mission, for reasons both philosophical and strategic.

"O humanity! Behold, We have created you all out of a male and a female, and have made you into nations and tribes, so that you might come to know one another."

The Beauty of Islam By Asiyah Goldson (Grade 9)

What wonders and happiness do we have when it comes to Islam?

The opportunity to come together and worship Ar-Rahman.

The thought of knowing something beautiful comes after this life,

For the good Muslims, inshallah, gifted with paradise.

Allah S.W.T is oh so merciful

He sent angels to protect us wherever we go.

The Prophet S.A.W taught us about Islam,

He was sent to guide us and help strengthen our Iman.

He never gave up on Muslims even though some gave him trouble,

He would always keep his patience, and stay forever humble.

Prophet Muhammad S.A.W taught us how to be kind and gentle towards others,

He told us never to commit shirk, and to always respect our mothers.

Prophet Muhammad S.W.T taught us the difference between wrong and right,

In Islam, Muslims should never ever fight.

We were taught to look after each other like brothers and sisters, And to avoid shaytan's evil whispers.

It doesn't make any sense why humans would worship other humans.

Do they not look at camels?

How they are made?

And at the sky,

How it was raised highly?

And at the mountains.

How they are fixed firm?

And at the eart,

How it is spread up?

Non-believers ask, "Why do Muslims local Allah S.W.T or Prophet Muhammad S.A.W when we never saw them?

"Why do Muslims insist on wasting their time?"

The answer is that love can be seen and love can be blind.

Islam is perfect, it is like no other,

It is something that everyone should look into further.

As for non-believers, I wish they would understand, I wish they would learn.

To Allah we belong and to Him we return.

CAIR's Poetry Contest for Middle School & High School Students

In November, 2015, CAIR-Philadelphia announced its Poetry Contest for middle and high school students. Participants chose to write on one of three topics: A characteristic of Prophet Muhammad (pbuh) and how you exemplify this characteristic in your life; what the masjid means to you as a Muslim living in a non-Muslim society; and the beauty you find in Islam. Thirteen students from around the area submitted poems which were judged by members of CAIR-Philadelphia's Executive Committee. The winning poems are printed on this and the following page. The following students also submitted poems: Omar Alhaj, Haider Ali, Tabassum Aminur, Emine Bicak, Jannat Chowdhury, Yaqqoub Johnson, Nur Khalil, Haanya Quadri, Hamida Sanford, Shaymaa Shehata, Madinah Stokes.

Medieval Muslim poet.

The Perfect Guest By Mariam Shehata

I stood there and I wondered
I imagined a whole theme
What if the prophet came
To visit my whole family

I didn't make it all up because this is really how it would be

My whole family from all over the world were at my house

We all stood there waiting so excited to see him
Then we heard a really soft knock at the door
So we all ran to meet him
As soon as my father opened the door
We were just stunned, speak no more

He was a walking beauty Such an amazing sight He said Assalamu Alaikum And entered with his right He greeted my dad, mom, aunts,

Uncles, cousins, sisters, and brothers He took off his left shoe

Then he took off the other He had gift bags in his hands

He brought us dates straight from Madinah Such a generous man and when we thanked him He said Shukran Lirab Al Alameena

He stayed standing, he said something so polite He said you choose where I sit, your house, your right

We told him to sit anywhere that he'd like He gathered us in a circle then gave us a speech told us about Jannah and the goals we had to rea

He told us about Jannah and the goals we had to reach
He reminded us of the importance of prayer and Quran
And that Jannah wasn't easy, we had to have a life plan

And the most important life plan is following Islam, our Deen

And if we plan on any other goals, just remember to start with Bismillah AL Rahman AL Raheem
After his lecture my grandma asked something silly
She heard this joke so many times but still found it funny

She said "Oh prophet of Allah, do old people like me enter Jannah?"

He laughed and said "U sure do have a funny sense of humor Sabihah."

We were all speechless, she asked "Oh prophet of Allah, how did you know my name?" He said "You are one of the ones who follow my Sunnah strictly and I also shall recognize you on judgement day."

I wanted to take a selfie with the prophet on my snapchat But then I remembered the hadith about unnecessary photos and I didn't want to make him upset And I noticed different because for once when I looked around All electronic devices were all shut down It was time for dinner so we all repeated the Duaa After the prophet And we ate with our right not our left He reminded us to give our neighbor a plate because The food my mom cooked, they may have smelled So I took a plate of food to my closest neighbor Alex And I told him about the prophet coming for a dinner fest When I came back in I heard the prophet say: thank you Allah For providing us with food and water and making us Muslims Then he thanked my mom, washed his hands, And used his Miswak as we copied him The Athan went off and he made wudoo They had to leave to Maghreb prayer soon Then all of the men got up and gathered to leave The prophet put on his right shoe first and left everything neat My whole family was sad that he was going to leave But we knew not to worry because if we follow our Deen We'll meet with the prophet again in Jannah. Say Ameen All the children ran to say goodbye to the prophet He loved children so much, he even gave them chocolate. And just before we thought

And just before we thought
That was the last thing that day
As soon as we opened the door
Our eyes were amazed

Once we heard a loud crowd and looked outside
Hundreds, thousands of people waiting from every street side
When they saw how beautiful the prophet was shown
Because as soon as he stepped outside in the dark, his face glowed
It was glowing like a bright shining moon
In that moment without any further due
Every single one of them and I mean ALL
Said Ashhadu An La Illaha Illa Allah Wa Ashhadu An Muhamadan
Rasoolullah

Turns out my neighbor Alex couldn't keep quiet
And now all of Philly knew about the prophet
And when they all saw the prophet and immediately converted
I knew the prophet was a miracle sent as a message
And then I remembered I was only imagining
But man how great that would be if it really happened
And maybe after the prophet leaves
I wouldn't return to my crazy careless life
Because my heart would've been inspired by a glorious man that night
